

Essential Evangelization

Evangelization - Good News in the Workplace?

We are called to share the “good news” in our workplaces, whether at home, office or school. Decency, politeness and honesty are a minimum requirement of all Christians at work. We offer these suggestions for loving our neighbor in the workplace.

- Politeness: Do we greet co-workers with a smile? Do we open a door for someone struggling with arms full? Do we say “Thank You” for all the little kindnesses our spouses and children do for us?
- Honesty: Do we record our hours worked accurately? Do we limit our work breaks to the time given by our employer?
- Decency: Do we refrain from gossip in our workplace and even say something positive about the person in question?

Excerpted from the CATHOLIC EVANGELIZATION, “Living and Sharing in the Workplace.” Paulist National Catholic Evangelization Assoc. 1991.

This is one of a series of articles on Evangelization from the Evangelization Committee